
GENERAL COUNSEL NOTE

September 2006

This memorandum was prepared by Martin Michaelson and Adam Feuerstein of the Washington, DC law firm Hogan & Hartson, LLP (September 2006).

Political Campaign-Related Activities of and at Colleges and Universities

We summarize here “do’s” and “don’ts” of potential entanglements of colleges and universities, and their personnel, in campaigns for public office. The summary is not exhaustive and omits legal citations. It is based on judicial and IRS rulings under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code; IRS guidance; and the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended, as well as Federal Election Commission regulations that apply to colleges and universities.

State law requirements that govern campaigns for state and local office vary and are not addressed here. Also not specified here are the penalties for improper political activity by and at a college or university. They can include loss of the institution's tax-exempt status, imposition of taxes on the institution and its responsible managers, and other risks, including federal or state government lawsuits, audits, and investigations. We recommend that the institution's counsel be consulted before proposed actions are taken in this area. This memorandum states general propositions, is not legal advice, is educational in nature and does not address the advisability as a matter of institutional policy of engaging in the activities identified below.

I. ILLUSTRATIVE PERMITTED ACTIVITIES

A. Voter education (including voter guides) and voter registration

- Y1. Conducting training programs designed to increase public understanding of the electoral process or to encourage citizens to become involved in the process, provided that such training is nonpartisan in the recruitment of instructors, the selection of students, and the curriculum. The program should be widely publicized, although groups underrepresented in the electoral process may be targeted.

- Y2. Annually preparing and distributing a compilation of voting records on major legislative issues that involve a wide range of topics, without political skew and without editorial opinion, provided that the information is not widely distributed and is not geared to coincide with the election period. Guides such as these should avoid rating candidates, even if the rating criteria are nonpartisan (e.g., based on professional qualifications). (See N2 below.)

- Y3. Circulating unbiased questionnaires to all candidates for an office, and tabulating and disseminating the results; provided that the questionnaires cover a broad range of subjects and neither reflect political skew nor contain editorial opinion. Candidates should be given a reasonable amount of time to respond to the questionnaires. To the extent the questionnaires include questions with "yes or no" answers, candidates should be given an opportunity to explain their answers.
- Y4. Conducting public opinion polls with respect to issues (rather than candidates), provided that the questions are framed to be fair and neutral, accepted polling techniques are used, and the questions do not directly or indirectly concern records or positions of particular candidates or parties. With respect to such activities of faculty, the limitations should be addressed with due regard for academic freedom.
- Y5. Participating in non-partisan voter registration activities, even when aimed at groups (such as urban voters, young people or minorities) likely to favor a certain political candidate or party, provided that the activities are not intended to target voters of a particular party or to help particular candidates, and provided further that particular geographic areas are not selected to favor any party or candidates.

B. Candidate appearances

- Y6. Providing access to air time on a university-owned radio station on an equal basis to all legally qualified candidates for a public office, in a manner consistent with the limits imposed by Federal Communications Commission standards.
- Y7. Providing opportunities to speak at college or university events on an equal basis to all legally-qualified candidates for a public office. If the institution chooses to invite candidates to speak individually, it must take steps to ensure that all such legally qualified candidates are invited and that none are favored in relation to the activity. For example, if a university invites one candidate to speak at a well-attended annual banquet, but invites another candidate to speak at a sparsely attended general meeting, the university will not have provided equal opportunity to participate. An explicit statement should be made as part of the introduction of the speaker that the institution does not support or oppose the candidate. Campaign fundraising at the event should be prohibited. The institution must make reasonable efforts to ensure that the appearances constitute speeches, question-and-answer sessions or similar communications in an academic setting and are not conducted as campaign rallies or events.

- Y8. Conducting institution-sponsored public forums to which all legally qualified candidates for a public office (or for the nomination of a particular party) are invited and given equal access and opportunity to speak, if the format and content of the forum are presented in a neutral manner.
- Y9. Inviting candidates to appear in a non-candidate capacity, provided that the individual is chosen to speak solely for reasons other than his or her candidacy, the individual speaks only in his or her non-candidate capacity, and no reference to the election is made. Campaigning at the event should be prohibited. The institution should clearly indicate the capacity in which the candidate is appearing and should not mention the candidacy or the upcoming election in any communications announcing the candidate's attendance.

C. Issue advocacy

- Y10. Engaging in usual and permissible lobbying and public policy education activities, within the constraints ordinarily applicable to such activities conducted by a college or university. This is a complex topic that warrants fuller analysis and advice. Special caution is indicated with respect to heightened, different or targeted lobbying and public policy education activities conducted during a campaign season.

D. Use of institutional resources

- Y11. Establishing genuine curricular activities aimed at educating students with respect to the political process. For example, the IRS approved a political science program in which, as part of a for-credit course, university students participated in several weeks of classroom work to learn about political campaign methods, and then were excused from classes for two weeks to participate in campaigns of their choice, without the university influencing which campaigns were chosen.

- Y12. Rearranging the academic calendar to permit students, faculty, and administrators to participate in the election process, if the rearrangement is made without reference to particular campaigns or political issues; provided that the recess is in substitution for another period that would have been free of curricular activity.
- Y13. Providing financial and administrative support to a student newspaper even though the newspaper publishes editorial opinions on political and legislative matters.
- Y14. Allowing established student groups to use institutional facilities for partisan political purposes, provided that such groups pay the usual and normal charge, if any, for use of institutional facilities by student groups. Fees usually are not required for traditional, on-campus student political clubs. Generally, groups other than student groups should be charged. Administrators and faculty should take special care in relation to any such proposed student activities, to avoid the appearance of institutional endorsement and to observe the other principles this memorandum identifies. Subject to applicable law, institutions may as a matter of their own general policy decline to permit their facilities to be used for such purposes.
- Y15. Adopting a voluntary payroll deduction plan that would allow individual employees to direct a portion of their wages to the political action committees ("PACs") for their respective unions, provided that the institution's activities with respect to the PAC are ministerial and simply involve transferring the funds earmarked by the employees to the PAC chosen by the employee, the institution has absolutely no role in the management or governance of the PAC or any influence over the selection of candidates or political parties to be supported by the PAC, the institution's name is not used or otherwise acknowledged in connection with any contributions made by the PAC to any candidates for public office, the institution is reimbursed for costs associated with the plan, the institution takes steps to ensure that no employees associate the PAC with the institution, and the institution does not allow employees to participate in PAC activities during work hours other than in the performance of the ministerial activities described above.
- Y16. Providing hyperlinks to the webpages, or other space on the institution's website, of all legally qualified candidates for a public office, if a tax-exempt purpose (e.g., "voter education") is served by offering the link and the link is made in a manner that does not favor one candidate over another. (See N13 below.)

E. Participation in the election process by faculty, administrators, and other employees of the institution

- Y17. Members of the college or university community are entitled to participate or not, off-hours, as they see fit, in the election process; provided that speaking or acting in the name of the institution is prohibited except as described in this memorandum; provided further that they are not acting at the direction of an institutional official; and provided further that if the institution is identified, that the opinions that are expressed are not the opinions of the college or university should be communicated.
- Y18. A faculty member, administrator or other employee may, if permitted by institutional policies and procedures, engage in federal campaign-related activity that is (a) outside normal work hours; or (b) within ordinary work hours, if the time is made up within a reasonable period by devoting a comparable number of extra hours to work for the institution; (c) charged to vacation time to which the person is then entitled or occurs during a regular sabbatical leave; or (d) during a leave of absence without pay taken with the institution's approval. The institution should consult applicable state law concerning permitted volunteer activities by employees in connection with campaigns for state or local office. Senior institutional officials, such as the president and the vice-president for governmental affairs, should ordinarily refrain from or otherwise limit campaign activity, as there is risk that such activity would be perceived as support or endorsement by the institution. (See N16 below.)
- Y19. Public statements, oral or written, by institutional officials (such as the president and deans) in support of a candidate, political party, PAC or the like, where the institutional official clearly indicates that his or her comments are personal and not intended to represent the views of the institution. For example, the IRS condoned a full-page advertisement in a local newspaper, paid for by a candidate, where the advertisement referred by name and title to the president of a 501(c)(3) organization as a campaign supporter, when the ad expressly stated that the "titles and affiliations of each individual are provided for identification purposes only." (See N15 below.)

II. ILLUSTRATIVE PROHIBITED (OR, IN SOME INSTANCES, QUESTIONABLE) ACTIVITIES IF UNDERTAKEN BY THE INSTITUTION OR BY AN INDIVIDUAL WHOSE ACTIONS ARE ATTRIBUTABLE TO THE INSTITUTION

A. Voter education (including voter guides) and voter registration

- N1. Conducting “voter education” activities, such as those involving questionnaires, if confined to a narrow range of issues or skewed in favor of certain candidates or a political party. For example, the IRS has disapproved such activities that involved selected voting records of certain incumbents on a narrow range of issues, such as "land conservation."
- N2. Publishing ratings of the candidates, particularly in situations where the ratings could be viewed as reflecting the views of the institution, or institutional resources are used in connection with the preparation or publication of such ratings without reimbursement at the usual and normal charge. (See Y2 above.)
- N3. Endorsing, expressly or impliedly, a candidate for public office. Examples of express endorsement include the placement of signs on university property that show support for a particular candidate, and contributing to political campaign funds. Examples of implied endorsement are public statements at a college or university event by an official of the institution, praising a particular candidate in relation to the holding of public office, and a pattern of institutional activities in relation to or support of a particular candidate.
- N4. Commenting on specific actions, statements or positions taken by candidates, including incumbents, in the course of their campaigns. The institution is not forbidden to comment on specific issues pertinent to its tax-exempt purposes, particularly if it has a track record of commenting on such issues in non-election years.
- N5. Promoting action (voting) with respect to issues that have become highly identified as dividing lines between the candidates. This principle does not bar the institution from commenting on issues critical to its tax-exempt purposes, if it has a track record of commenting on such issues in non-election years, but the principle does bar encouragement of voting on one side of such issues.

- N6. Coordinating voter education activities with campaign events. American Council on Education Page 7 Division of Government and Public Affairs September 2006

B. Use of institutional resources

- N7. Coordinating institutional fund-raising with fund-raising of a candidate for public office, political party, PAC or the like.
- N8. Reimbursing college or university officials for campaign contributions.
- N9. Providing mailing lists, use of office space, telephones, photocopying or other institutional facilities or support to a candidate, campaign, political party, political action committee (PAC) or the like free of charge. If mailing lists or facilities are sold or rented to a candidate or campaign, the items must be made available to all other candidates on the same terms and at fair market prices. Additionally, the institution should be prepared to show that it did not take the initiative in making the items available and that the sales or rentals are part of an ongoing pattern in which similar items are provided to unrelated, nonpolitical entities. Counsel should be consulted on the potential for taxation of revenues generated by such sales or rentals.
- N10. Using institutional letterhead in support of a candidate, political party, PAC or the like.
- N11. Sponsoring events to advance the candidacy of particular candidates.
- N12. Using message boards and forums affiliated with the institution's website to support particular candidates, if the statements of the provider of the information can be reasonably attributed to the institution. A disclaimer that states that the opinions are neither those of the institution nor sanctioned by the institution is recommended in those public discussion areas where the information could reasonably be attributed to the institution.
- N13. Providing hyperlinks to the webpages, or other space on a university's website, of one or more candidates for public office in a manner that favors one candidate over another. Generally, information posted on an institution's website that favors or opposes a candidate for public office is treated the same as if it was distributed printed material, oral statements or broadcasts that favored or opposed a candidate. Institutions should diligently monitor the content of the linked website for any changes.

- N14. Providing a candidate a forum to promote his or her campaign if other candidates are not treated equally, even if the forum is not intended to assist the candidate. For example, the IRS concluded that a charitable organization violated the prohibition on campaign intervention when the candidate solicited funds on the organization's behalf, because the content of the solicitation included campaign rhetoric.

C. Participation in the election process by faculty, administrators, and other employees of the institution

- N15. Public statements, oral or written, by institutional officials (such as the president and deans) in support of a candidate, political party, PAC or the like, where there is risk that the statements would be perceived as support or endorsement by the institution. For example, the IRS has indicated that it would be inappropriate for a column titled "My Views" to appear in a university's monthly newsletter in which the university president stated, "it is my personal opinion that Candidate U should be reelected", even though the president paid part of the cost of the newsletter.
- N16. Remarks at an institutional meeting by an institutional official in support of a candidate, political party, PAC or the like. For example, institutional officials should not make statements that could be perceived as support for a particular candidate at a regular meeting of the Board of trustees.

The foregoing is not exhaustive. Considerable judgment in the application of these principles is likely to be required. When activities that are separately identified in this memorandum are combined, an institution should analyze the interaction between the activities, as the interaction may affect whether the institution is engaged in political campaign intervention.
