The Spring 2009 Saturday University: Lectures at the Commons is entitled, "Environment, Energy, and Sustainability" and is offered in collaboration with the Vanderbilt Institute for Energy and Environment (VIEE), under the direction of Professor George Hornberger.

A number of key faculty who are affiliated with VIEE have volunteered their participation. It will again be an outstanding interdisciplinary faculty from across the College of Arts & Science, the School of Engineering, Peabody College, and Vanderbilt Law School.

Lectures will be held over six consecutive Saturdays. Each session will include lecture, plus Q&A, from 9:30 until 11:30 from February 7th through March 14th. The fee for the six lectures is $99.

Courses will be held at the Commons on the eastern edge of Vanderbilt's campus. Convenient parking is available in Lot #77 directly across the street on 18th Ave. S. and Horton Ave.

For more information, contact Martin Rapisarda, associate dean for Arts & Science, at 615/343-3140 or martin.rapisarda@vanderbilt.edu.
