President's Message What a busy year we have had. I am amazed that this is the last newsletter for academic year 2018-2019. We celebrated our 125th year of existence. Our goals have changed to accommodate the needs and roles of our members over those years. From being the support group for wives of Vanderbilt students and professors to having Vanderbilt graduates or professors as members themselves. Much has changed for women over the past century.

We tried some new things this year and are excited to see what the 2019-2020 year will hold for the Vanderbilt Woman's Club. I have enjoyed hearing your feedback from all our events and activities. Thank you so much to everyone who donated to the ScholarSongs event, attended the ScholarSongs event and worked on the ScholarSongs committee. As I write this, I DO NOT have a final total for the fundraiser, but we will have raised at least $8 thousand towards our second endowment and a good time was had by all. A special thank you to Peggy Curci who was the chair of the silent auction and did an amazing job.

The Period Project was an experiment to see if the Club would like to participate in a service project throughout the year. It was a resounding success. (See the article in the newsletter for all the details.) Thank you, Cindy Slobogin, for suggesting then spearheading this effort. The board has decided that we want to open the opportunity for the club to suggest our next collection for next year. Please see the form Suggestion for Next Year's Collection on page eight, fill it out and send to me by May 1st 2019. The new board will decide at the first board meeting in August what we will collect next year.

Thank you to everyone who chaired a committee this year, volunteered at an event or for one of the charities we support, answered a survey, attended a lecture, asked a question, invited a friend to an event or activity or just shared a smile with others in the club. Your warmth and participation make this organization run.

Looking forward to 2019-2020.

I can promise you that women working together - linked, informed and educated - can bring peace and prosperity to this forsaken planet- Isabel Allende

Welcome new member

has lived officially in Nashville for almost 3 years, she did have an apartment here for several years. Her daughter attended Vanderbilt in 1990 and stayed to receive 3 degrees and is an Associate Professor at Peabody.

Amelia most recently lived in New Jersey about 22 miles outside of New York City having grown up in New Jersey and living in various towns for the past 40 years. As newlyweds they lived in New York City.

She has never lived abroad yet has travelled abroad frequently, visiting her sons when they lived in Europe and Asia. Amelia was associated with a Montessori College in London and Dublin so was able to travel often for professional development. Amelia graduated from Georgian Court College and gained her teaching certificate from Kean University in New Jersey and her Montessori diplomas from St. Nicolas College, London also studying at Marymount, New York City and Dublin, Ireland.

She taught in traditional schools for three years and has been involved with Montessori education for the past 40 years. Being the owner and director of two Montessori schools in New Jersey. She currently sits on the board of trustees for the schools and visits monthly. Amelia's hobbies include playing golf very badly (per Amelia), traveling to the Adirondacks. She has seven grandchildren and will do anything with them.

Her favorite drink is Tito's vodka, has no favorite food and misses Chinese food.

Let's give her some suggestions for where to go for Chinese. Joy

VWC / Period Project - Community Service Project

by Cindy Slobogin

On August 16, 2016 The Tennessean ran an article titled, "Period Poverty" describing the plight of many young girls and women in the Metro Nashville Public Schools (MNPS). It outlined the number of girls who missed school monthly because they could not afford sanitary products and none was available at schools. It was documented to affect the grades and graduation rates of those in need. Dr. Lakisha Simmons, an associate professor at Belmont University, reached out to MNPS and discovered the need was urgent and launched a challenge to the community to collect donations. The Nashville Period Project Challenge was held in September 2018 to begin the school year with supplies.

At the September VWC board meeting this cause was presented, and it was unanimously agreed to support this project for the 2018 / 2019 academic year as a community service. Collections were held at lectures and events throughout the year. In January, nearly 3,200 pieces (pads and tampons) were delivered to the Metro Schools Distribution Center and further collections will be delivered in May.

The Period Project continues to push to resolve the problem with hopes of supplying reusable products as an option and placing collection bins for products at various locations throughout the community. There is also action in the legislature to eliminate taxes on sanitary products (tampon tax) and a bill has been proposed to mandate that public schools provide products, SB 1046.

This is not a "third world problem" but exists throughout the United States and the world. The 2019 winner of the Oscar documentary shorts was a film titled "Period : End of Sentence" depicting the introduction of small machines to make pads in remote villages in India, the "Pad Project". The women learned to make pads and sold them locally and to neighboring villagers. It was highlighted that what education was available to girls often ended when menses began. The film demonstrated that the women of the world are joined by this problem, as well as other issues, which need a global effort to resolve.

Keep the donations coming!
