Probation Status for Graduate/Professional Students

Students who fall behind schedule in the cumulative number of required credit hours or fall below the stipulated GPA or who are placed on academic probation by their schools and are allowed to continue in an enrolled status will be eligible to receive Title IV funds for one additional semester or summer session on a probationary basis. If, at the end of the probationary semester, the student is still behind in the cumulative number of hours or GPA required for satisfactory progress as specified in this Manual, eligibility to receive Title IV funds will be suspended until the student is back in good academic standing and on schedule as required for satisfactory progress.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Appeal and Reinstatement Procedures for All Students

Any student whose Federal/State student aid is terminated due to unsatisfactory academic progress may submit an appeal for reinstatement of such assistance to the Office of Student Financial Aid. For undergraduate students, the appeal will be considered by the Director of Financial Aid or his/her designate, with the right for further appeal to the Associate Provost for Academic Affairs; for graduate and professional students, the appeal will be reviewed with the Dean of the appropriate school or his/her designated representative. If it is determined that the student's lack of academic progress was the result of illness, death in the family, or other exceptional or mitigating circumstances, eligibility for Federal/State student aid funds may be reinstated on a probationary basis by a financial aid officer.
