1. Key Changes for Researchers: Foreign Influence

Examples of foreign support that must be disclosed by all Investigators on federal grants (and that may need to be disclosed to other sponsors), include:

- a) all positions and affiliations, including volunteer positions, relevant to an individual’s research endeavors
- b) relevant appointments at foreign Institutions – even if labeled as “guest,” “adjunct,” “honorary,” with or without salary support
- c) income, salary, consulting fees, and honoraria in support of an individual's Research endeavors
- d) participation in a foreign talent or similar-type programs
- e) all resources and other support, both domestic and foreign, for ongoing Research projects, including those conducted at a different Institution
- f) in-kind contributions from domestic and foreign Institutions or governments that support Research activities
- g) travel paid by a foreign Institution or government
- h) Financial Interests received from a foreign Institution of higher education or a foreign government

In addition to their own interests, Investigators must disclose the significant financial interests of their spouse and dependent children.

Investigators are no longer required to disclose financial interests of all family members.

This change was made to align the Vanderbilt policy with PHS policy.
2. Annual disclosure requirement adjustment

2022 Revised COI Policy gives the University Conflicts Committee (UCC) the authority to exempt certain low-risk populations from the annual disclosure requirement upon recommendation by the COI Office.

The COI Office will make recommendations to exempt certain groups periodically.

Disclosure requirements will continue for all staff, but some staff may not be required to disclose every year.

Annual disclosure requirements continue for active faculty members, although some emeritus faculty members may be exempted from the requirement.
3. Gift Limit Increase

Gift limit increased from $300 to $400 per year

No gifts should be accepted from any source if acceptance of such gifts could place an individual in a compromising position

No gifts may be accepted from the healthcare industry
4. Clarifications: Negative connotation of conflicts

The 2022 Revised COI Policy clarifies that conflicts of interest are not inherently negative

- Faculty Senate suggested clarification: many activities that must be disclosed are crucial to the University’s mission
- Identifying and managing these conflicts is necessary, but the disclosure requirement should not be viewed to imply any wrongdoing
4. Clarifications cont.: Other Clarifications

• Capitalizes all defined terms
• Notes at the beginning of policy that there is glossary of defined terms at the end of the policy
• Changes term “Members of the University Community” to “Covered Individuals”
• Defines “Covered Individuals” in the glossary
• Defines “Entity” and “Institution” in the glossary
• Clarifies that Emeritus Trustees are exempt from disclosure requirements
• Updates contact information and makes clarifications related to VUMC employed faculty
5. Process Descriptions

Addition of 60-day grace period on disclosure requirements for newly hired faculty and staff

- Newly hired faculty and staff must complete a disclosure upon hire or appointment, but because that is not always possible to complete immediately, the 60-day grace period applies.

Description of appeal process for certain conflict appeals

- It remains the case that any affected faculty or staff member can appeal an adverse decision (e.g., a finding that a conflict is not manageable), but the 2022 Revised COI Policy now describes how to request an appeal.
