

Peru 1998: National Study

Technical Information

Country	Year	Size of Sample	Weighted/Unweighted
Peru	1988	1508	Unweighted

A sample of 1508 respondents was drawn from the adult population through a national multistage probability sampling method. Apoyo, S.A, among Peru's best known survey research organizations conducted the interviews in a face-to-face mode, lasting an average of a half hour each. Funding came from USAID.

There was not an individual report presenting the results of this study. However, results were analyzed in a research study, "Political Support, Political Skepticism, and Political Stability in New Democracies: An Empirical Examination of Mass Support for Coups d'Etat in Perú," written by Mitchell A. Seligson and Julio Carrion, and published in Comparative Political Studies, Vol. 35, No. 1 (February, 2002), pp. 58-82.
