Mindfulness & Meditation: Interbeing

CAMERON L. GORDON, PH.D.

MIDDLE TENNESSEE STATE UNIVERSITY
&
SOUTHEAST PSYCH NASHVILLE
615-373-9955
Homework

- Practice mindfulness meditation daily
- Start with brief (5 minute) exercises
  - Practice observing physical and emotional pain as it is, without trying to make it something else
    - This takes courage! It is okay to be afraid!
  - Practice expanding your awareness to the good that is always occurring, even in the midst of suffering
- When mind wanders, elaborates, or wrestles with pain
  - Gently and persistently bring it back to curious and present observation
The Progression of Curiosity

- When we remain present and curious about anything (e.g., a raisin), we see things we did not see before
  - A raisin is not simply a raisin, it is....
    - ...a dried grape!
  - Keep looking...it is also the product of effort from a farmer, etc.
  - The raisin cannot “be” by itself
  - It depends upon other conditions to occur in order to allow it to manifest as a raisin
    - If it is warm, has sun and water, etc., it can become a grape, and then be dried into a raisin...if any of these variables is missing it cannot be a raisin
  - The raisin’s very existence depends on other conditions “Interbeing” (aka “dependent origination”) refers to the concept that everything is not only connected to, but is actually a part of, everything else (Thich Nhat Hanh, Peace is Every Step)

- Any two things inter-are
  - A rose becomes garbage, and garbage becomes a rose
  - A parent gives birth to a child at the same time the child gives birth to the parent
  - Happiness and misery inter-are as well!
Mindfulness of Interbeing Meditation

YOU!!!

clouds

water

Coffee maker

Everyone involved with production packaging shipping distribution and sales

Peaceful government

rain

The people who made the cup

Livestock or machines used to plant and cultivate it

My wife

sunshine

Costa Rican Farmers

Hawaiians

My electrician

soil

MTSU

My plumber

Thich Nhat Hanh

Ancestors of all involved

My parents, who drank it black waves

My alarm clock & everyone at Verizon Interbeing is More Than Just Coffee!

- Using the same principles, we can gain a deeper insight about loneliness
  - We are always a part of, connected to, influencing, and receiving influence from the world around us, thus loneliness does NOT represent a true reality of actually being alone

- This also changes our relationship with basic concepts of birth and death
  - When was my daughter born? In 2017?
  - When did my mother die? In 1998?
Implications of Interbeing

Once we realize the nature of inter-being in our world, the natural results are:

- Increased compassion, understanding, and patience
- A sense of belonging/a decrease in loneliness
- Humility and gratitude
- Increased sense of responsibility for the health and well-being of others, our planet, etc.
  - Our actions literally impact, shape, and reverberate much farther than we can ever measure
  - Thus, we all have a great capacity to create long-lasting positive change in the world...
  - And we must do so! (even if only for our own sake) 😊
Homework

- Consciously create a better world through your awareness of interbeing
  - resolve to soothe negativity you receive rather than passing it on to others
  - develop gratitude for your “dependent origination” that leads to altruism
  - build something beautiful in the world that begins with a simple smile or a compliment
- And most importantly...
  - have fun, explore, be playful with your practice!
Thank you!

Cameron Gordon, Ph.D. drcamerongordon@gmail.com