ASIAN STUDIES 1168
Inside China: Economy, Culture, & Society in Beijing and Shanghai
May 08-May 29, 2016

• Earn 3 Vanderbilt credits (AS 1168) to fulfill the AXLE requirement while engaging with one of the most dynamic economies in the world. Open to all undergraduates. No prior knowledge of Chinese required.

• Tour and sightsee the Great Wall, Tian’anmen Square, Temple of Heaven, the World Financial Center, the Bund in Shanghai, and much more.

• Attend seminars (in English) given by American and Chinese scholars on diverse topics, including Chinese economics, globalization, international relations, traditional Chinese architecture, and environmental challenges faced by China and the world.

• Learn survival Chinese by bargaining at local flea markets and ordering food in restaurants. Learn Chinese cooking, practice using a Tai Chi Sword with martial arts masters, experience acupuncture, and watch a Kung Fu show.

• Debate and discuss social, economic and international issues with Chinese college students. Visit Peking University (China's Harvard) and talk to top professors and students there.

• Visit General Motors in Shanghai, local businesses, a village, a traditional hospital, and private people’s homes. Interview businessmen, professionals, migrant workers, and performers.

• Meet Vanderbilt alumni who will provide their personal insights on living, working, and doing business in China.

• Take the high-speed rail from Beijing to Shanghai, experience the rapid Shanghai maglev line, embark on a night cruise viewing China’s most beautiful skyline, and experience a panoramic view of Shanghai atop the newly-finished Shanghai Tower (the 2nd tallest skyscraper in the world).
