Message from the president: Hello VWC Members,

I hope that everyone has been able to stay cool during these hot summer months. I'm very excited about being your President. For those I haven't yet had the pleasure to meet, let me introduce myself. My name is Angela Bowens. I have been a member of the Vanderbilt Woman's Club for 12 years. I've served on the Board for 8 years. I'm married with three children. I like to watch scary movies and read books. Some members would say that I love cheeseburgers and steaks. We have planned some wonderful events this year starting with our Kendra Scott Night Tuesday, August 29, 5:00-8:00p.m. If you're a lover of jewelry, you don't want to miss out on this. If you're new to the Club or have joined and never attended a Newcomers Party, please join us on Thursday, September 7, 7:00-9:00p.m. at the Sandbergs' home where you can meet the Board and leaders of various Interest Groups and be officially welcomed to the Club. Last year, we started our Music events, and will continue, beginning Sunday afternoon, September 17, 4:00-6:30p.m. with Brews, Tunes and BBQ at the Fleetwoods' home. Please be on the lookout for our Opening Tea, Wednesday, September 6, 1:00-3:00p.m. at the University Residence.

Here are some FUN FACTS:

- ◇ In Tennessee, more than 8 women may not live in the same house because that would constitute a brothel.
- ◇ Chewing gum while you cut an onion will help keep you from crying.
- ◇ A Swedish woman lost her wedding ring and found it 16 years later-growing on a carrot in her garden.
- ◇ You are born with 300 bones, but by the time you are an adult you only have 206.
- ◇ If you started with $0.01 and doubled your money every day, it would take 27 days to become a millionaire.
- ◇ A person can live without food for about a month, but only about a week without water. If the amount of water in your body is reduced by just 1%, you'll feel thirsty. If it's reduced by 10%, you'll die.
- ◇ Months that begin on a Sunday will always have a "Friday the 13th."

I'll see you at Kendra Scott Night,

Angela

Next meetings:

Tuesday, August 29, 5:00 p.m. –8:00 p.m. Kendra Scott Night
Wednesday, September 6, 1:00 p.m.-3:00 p.m. Opening Tea at the University Residence

What's New With Our Scholarship Student, Mason Grow?

Mason is currently majoring in Psychology and Political Science, with plans to attend law school. She has particularly enjoyed her classes in Cryptography and the Politics of Crime and Policing since starting at Vanderbilt. Over the summer she studied abroad in Copenhagen, Denmark, taking Psychology of Criminal Behavior and Positive Psychology—both of which, as she says, apply to her majors and life in general. While in Denmark, Mason had the opportunity to visit Berlin, Amsterdam, London, and Edinburgh. In between classes and preparing for the LSAT, Mason is passionately involved in the Vanderbilt University Concert Choir as an Alumni Historian and Alpha Omicron Pi as the Philanthropy Chair. Additionally, she plays intramural soccer and has absolutely loved the friendships she has formed since starting at Vandy. She is excited to return to campus this fall and get started on her junior year!

Getting to know our new members

Sharon Hels I've been in Nashville for a little over 40 years--I came in January, 1976, a semester out of college, to begin a master's program at Vanderbilt in the study of religion. It soon turned into a doctoral program, which I completed, not exactly on schedule, in 1987. I grew up in Wisconsin, outside Milwaukee. Rural Wisconsin has dairy farms, corn fields, and good public schools, among many other things.

Although I have lived for many more years in Nashville, I still consider myself a Midwesterner who has enjoyed incredible Southern hospitality.

While I was in college in Minnesota, a little Lutheran liberal arts college called St. Olaf, I had the good fortune to spend my junior year in England. I am sure it marked me for life with a preference for black tea with milk and sugar, and a deep love for Anglican chant.

When I came to Vanderbilt at age 21, I quickly fell in love with Nashville and decided to stay here year round. That meant part-time work to support myself while working on my degree. I was a disaster as a waitress, not much use as a secretary, and passable in retail sales. I did enjoy my brief stint as a baker. But as alternative avenues of employment faded, it seemed to be teaching or nothing for me. I student-taught English at the University School in the late 70s, where the path narrowed even further as I gathered that I lacked the mental and physical stamina to teach teenagers absolutely anything.

When I finished my degree, I found a job at the United Methodist Board of Higher Education and Ministry, which is located across 21st Street from the Divinity School. Although not a Methodist, once again I enjoyed amazing hospitality and was allowed to edit a venerable theological journal, the Methodist Quarterly Review. I worked happily among the Methodists for 10 years, until 1999.

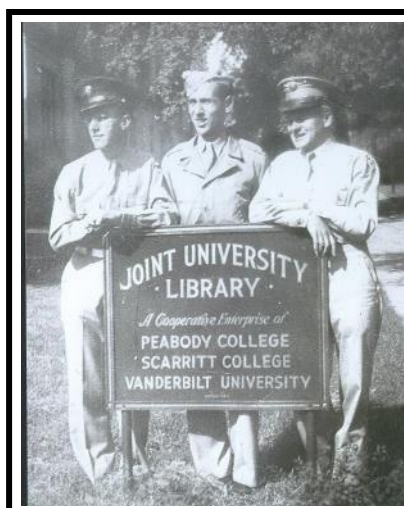

In 1991, I married Brad Reed, a Nashville native who had attended Vanderbilt Law School and stayed on to teach contracts (I think) for several years, ending up practicing at Bass, Berry & Sims. Along the way, while working at the Board, I managed to teach a few Hebrew Bible classes at the Divinity School and the College.

Eventually, my interest and expertise in Hebrew Bible trailed away, and I began voice and art lessons. I now have a church gig at St. Paul's Episcopal in Franklin, singing alto in the choir, and a fledgling art practice, having earned a B.F.A. in Fine Arts at Watkins in 2011. I remain interested in and deeply committed to interfaith dialogue, particularly Jewish-Christian dialogue.

Thus overeducated and underemployed, as usual, I have a few favorite occupations these days. Brad passed away in 2016, and the process of rebuilding from a long, wonderful marriage has taken me in some new directions. I still enjoy the fabric dyeing and quilting I have been doing for several years now, and I've started painting icons in the traditional style. The practice of Pilates has been sustaining for me in the past several years, as is time spent on the lake in Northern Wisconsin during the summer. Lately, I've begun tutoring English at the Nashville Adult Literacy Council office in Antioch. This is tremendously satisfying.

My secret indulgence, I suppose, is that I love political conversation as long as it is not competitive or disrespectful. I also buy way too many books. And I mean way, way too many.

I wouldn't call myself a foodie or any sort of gourmet cook. But I am totally dedicated to home cooking, slow cooking, whatever you want to call it, and I can usually spot a good recipe when I see one. I make French bread all year round and German stollen at Christmastime. Good coffee is an absolute must. I cherish my mother's handwritten recipes for family favorites, some of which she taped to the inside of a kitchen cupboard door for handy reference. But--if I had to eat only one kind of cuisine for the rest of my life, it would be Italian.

Getting to know our new members

was born in Rhode Island and grew up in Hartford, Connecticut, where she graduated from Trinity College, majoring in intercultural studies. Afterward she moved to Washington, DC, earning an MS in Slavic Linguistics from Georgetown University. In between there were two semesters of study in Moscow and St. Petersburg (then Leningrad) which led to human rights-related work at the Helsinki Commission in the US Congress followed by positions at Helsinki Watch and Time Magazine in New York City. Helen speaks Russian, Ukrainian, German and French.

In 1987, Helen married her husband John and left for Europe as John carried on with his career as a US Foreign Service Officer. In Brussels, John worked as the deputy chief of mission at the US delegation to NATO, later serving as US Ambassador to the OSCE in Vienna (1992-94) and to Germany from 1997-2001.

Helen and John have two sons, Alexander and Stephen, and it was their decisions to attend Vanderbilt that brought the family to Nashville and ultimately led to their buying a house in 12South in 2013. John and Helen still spend some time in Berlin, Germany, where John is a political consultant and commentator. Helen has worked as an election observer for the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe, traveling four times to Ukraine in 2014-15 and to Yaroslavl, Russia, in 2016. Helen loves birdwatching at Radnor Lake and has sung for many years in a multi-cultural choir based in Berlin. She and her husband also love bluegrass and can often be found at the Station Inn.

Remember to RSVP for upcoming events.

Michelle Hall

has lived in Nashville for 4 years. She moved here from Cincinnati, Ohio and before that lived in Atlanta, Georgia. She graduated from Miami University of Ohio with a B.S. in Economics then went on to get a MBA in Finance from Loyola College in Baltimore. She has worked in public relations and marketing yet most enjoyed owning a wedding floral business in Atlanta.

Michelle's hobbies include her Great Pyrenees and they volunteer as a pet therapy team.

Her favorite secret indulgence are Krispy Kreme donuts, Yum! And favorite drink is a Dirty Martini with blue cheese olives.

Our musical guest will be Jacob Reynolds, a local artist described as having a soulful pop sound. In 2015 he recorded an album of original songs titled "Victim Of A Small Town". He currently has a featured slot Wednesday afternoons at Tin Roof on Broadway. Please see below for more information about Jacob:

Jacob Reynolds

Although he was born into an artistic family, becoming a musician was not Jacob's original plan. Baseball was his first passion. He was an All-American and was drafted by the Cleveland Indians in 1998 soon after graduating high school. During the off-season and in his spare time, he began learning how to play the guitar and writing songs to keep himself occupied. Although his baseball career was sidelined and eventually ended due to injuries, it didn't take much time for Jacob to realize playing music was more than a hobby - it was his calling. He moved to Nashville in 2005, immersed himself in the musical culture that is steeped in the city, and hasn't looked back since.
